ADVERTISING Specification Sheet

2007 CONFERENCE PROGRAM

The Society for Cinema & Media Studies is Committed to Promoting the Academic Publishing Industry as well as other Publishers, Institutions and Companies which Serve the Media Studies Community

Entering our 48th year, the Society for Cinema & Media Studies has served to promote all areas of media studies within universities and two-and four-year colleges; to encourage and reward excellence in scholarship and writing; to facilitate and improve the teaching of media studies as disciplines; to advance multi-cultural awareness and interaction; to serve its members' professional needs and concerns; to strengthen the ties between the academic community and those who interact with it, from the media industry to the government to the public at large; and to promote the preservation of our film, television, and video heritage. The annual SCMS Conference Program is an integral part of "spreading the word" to our members of the size and scope of the academic publishing industry as well as other publishers, institutions and companies which serve the media studies community available in the US and around the world.

Ads not in compliance, either with specifications, will be rejected and correct materials will be requested. Any ads that do not meet the specifications and require additional operator intervention incur additional handling charges. The advertising contract cannot be accepted without full payment. All ad contracts, payments and ad materials are due to Leslie LeMond, the SCMS Conference Coordinator no later than Friday, December 1, 2006. Any art received past this deadline releases the publisher from advertising art inaccuracies. No guarantees of placement for display advertising. The design company, nor SCMS, is not liable or responsible for electronic file errors, ads sent in error or ads sent after December 1, 2006.

Editorial Policies: The advertiser agrees to pay the total charges for advertising and any fees incurred by SCMS to correct or modify non-conforming materials in order to publish advertiser's materials. SCMS, program design team and publisher are not responsible for any errors in key numbers or any other typesetting in submitted advertising materials. All ads are accepted and published at SCMS's discretion. SCMS reserves the right to reject any advertising, for any reason, which, in the opinion of the editor, does not conform to the editorial, graphic or professional standards of the program. No agreements, oral or written, which conflict with SCMS's policies set forth therein, will be binding on SCMS. All information concerning the SCMS conference program is the sole property of SCMS and any unauthorized use or reproduction of said information is prohibited.
