Rosa Linda Fregoso
The Bronze Screen
Chicana and Chicano Film Culture
Explores Chicana and Chicano popular culture through contemporary representations in both Hollywood commercial and independent cinema. "This is state-of-the-art scholarship. Rosa Linda Fregoso has managed to combine social histories, textual analyses, and film theories into an original and useful view of contemporary Chicano cinema. The Bronze Screen proves that gender and race need not be mutually exclusive—and that history and theory actually have something to say to each other."

Hamid Naficy
The Making of Exile Cultures
Iranian Television in Los Angeles
Naficy explores the ways in which media and cultural productions generated from within a community in exile incorporate feelings of nostalgia for a lost homeland with new mechanisms for coping with life in the host country. The media serve as the source for resistance to assimilation, and as a way of articulating an 'exilic' discourse.

American-Jewish Filmmakers
Traditions and Trends
David Desser and Lester D. Friedman

Woody Allen, Mel Brooks, Sidney Lumet, and Paul Mazursky, all sons of East European Jews, remain among the most successful contemporary American film directors. Desser and Friedman contend that the Jewish experience gives rise to an intimately linked series of issues within these and other Jewish directors' films.

D.W. Griffith and the Origins of American Narrative Film
The Early Years at Biograph
Tom Gunning

Winner of the Theatre Library Association Award

"Establishes Tom Gunning as an authoritative historian not only of Griffith's Biograph films but also of that crucial period when American movies were learning to tell stories as they had never been told before." — Charles Maland, Film Quarterly

Illus. Cloth, $42.50; Paper, $16.95

Eisenstein, Cinema and History
James Goodwin

"Rarely does a critical study of film rest on such a solid foundation as this satisfying, three-dimensional overview of the career of the former Soviet Union's preeminent filmmaker. . . . More than just another critical perspective on a particular set of films, this can be read as a definitive primer of Eisenstein's cinema." — Library Journal

WHAT MADE PISTACHIO NUTS?
Early Sound Comedy and the Vaudeville Aesthetic
Henry Jenkins
416 pages, 167 photos,
$15.95 paper, $35.00 cloth

"A thoroughly original work. Jenkins's argument is multifaceted both in scope and method, and yet, like a gem, each facet fits together with precision and brilliant effect. He targets both the forest and the trees so that this book is filled with the sort of detail that simultaneously supports his argument and makes it sparkle with specificity."
—Tom Gunning, SUNY Purchase

ACTING MALE

Masculinities in the Films of James Stewart, Jack Nicholson, and Clint Eastwood

DENNIS BINGHAM

"Will be widely recognized as a provocative and innovative contribution to the growing body of literature exploring star performance."
—VIRGINIA WEXMAN, University of Illinois, Chicago

Dennis Bingham gives vividly detailed, original analyses of the stars' evolving personas, performance styles, and body images in films ranging from The Naked Spur and Harvey, to The Shining, Tightrope, and Unforgiven. He brings contemporary issues in stardom, masculinity, role models, and spectatorship to bear in exposing the full complexity of male representations in American film.

Hollywood Masculinity in the Reagan Era

SUSAN JEFFORDS

"An important and original book with dazzling insights."
—H. BRUCE FRANKLIN

"She gives welcome new definition to the whole idea of the body politic."
— Kirkus Reviews

By linking Hollywood films of the 1980s to Ronald Reagan and his image, Jeffords explores the links between masculinity and U.S. identity and how their images changed during that decade.

FILM HISTORY

AN INTRODUCTION

Kristin Thompson and David Bordwell
both of the University of Wisconsin, Madison

Written by distinguished film scholars, FILM HISTORY sets a new standard for introductory texts in the field.

- Incorporates recent findings in all aspects of film history – industries, genres, national cinemas, experimental movements, and specific filmmakers – for the most up-to-date survey available.
- Offers a new framework for studying the international history of the cinema, one which recognizes that trends and movements cross national boundaries.
- Brings film history to life with an unprecedented number of visual examples – 1400 high-quality frame enlargements taken directly from film prints.

AMERICAN CINEMA / AMERICAN CULTURE

John Belton, Rutgers University

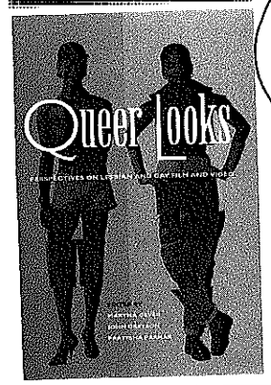

Developed to be used alone or to accompany the television course and prime-time public television series, AMERICAN CINEMA, this text provides a comprehensive introduction to American film history and criticism.
