Crystal Camargo is a Ph.D. Candidate at Northwestern University. Her research explores the intersections of Latinx representation, language ideologies, and TV aesthetics in both English- and Spanish-language television.