Sean Purcell is a necro-materialist media historian and filmmaker. His work examines medical media, preserved living tissue, and Western death practices.